

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION

The responsible use of energy resources is of central importance both in the construction and operation of buildings. Our environmental management system commits us to the sustainable planning, construction and operation of buildings and real estate.

Environmental Training and Awareness

SKE's environmental training and awareness program stems from our employee's engagement in current environmental issues. SKE's uses various mediums (including web-based modules) to inform, educate, and raise awareness on environmental issues. Awareness is proactively promoted at worksites among employees, temporary staff, and subcontractors. Engineering and design teams are also trained in the eco-design of structures.
